Parents Demand Reason For Transfer Of Students To Cameron School

Twenty some confused parents gathered in Central school Monday night each one voicing the question "Why must our children go to West Coleman?"

Principal Allen, assuming all responsibility for the organizing, attempted to explain the reason for the system. At the very first he admitted the bus schedule may have caused inconvenience, but this had been straightened out. The basic reason for the plan was to eliminate double grades as well as equalizing the number in each room.

Parents and school board remained comparatively calm tempo increasing at times. A summary of the meeting follows:

Trying to convince the assembly that his plan was to have the school running as efficiently as possible, Mr. Allen was bombarded with questions. "Was the efficiency of a teacher handling two grades impaired to the extent that she had a majority of failures? This was one question, Mr. Allen replying that if a teacher was efficient teaching two she would be more efficient teaching one.

Problems of dinner, snow banks and bad weather prompted questions, the discussion getting to 'Why build rooms at West Coleman where the population can't fill them?'

Subject matter changed constantly centering for a time on a newcomer accepted at Central after the draw was made. This was explained to the satisfaction of all, discussion turning again to double grades, questions asking if parents ever complained about double grades.

The happiness of a child and adjustment was claimed as half the battle. Statements such as this were expressed by parents. If a child likes his teacher and doesn't like his school he cannot balance his mind. The child is separated from his playmates and are ostracized, one parent claiming this has already begun. 'When I changed schools I had to fight them all' asserted one father.

'When you buy a home' asked one mother 'the three things you consider are the school, church and shopping. You buy a home to be close to school'. To this the board replied the act does not claim a child has to attend a school further from home, nor does it state he doesn't have to if necessary.

The possibilities of the bus picking up students and the matter of the bus going to the Lake and Lime Kilns resulted in the board clearing up the matter.

Zoning of the town was requested many times the board explaining that zoning would not settle the problem of balanced grades. This balance was recommended and approved by the inspector. Similar complaints were received last year but after a trial no one complained.

The building of extra rooms on Cameron school entered the discussion again, the trustees explaining that by doing so part of the present walls and heating plant can be utilized at a saving, whereas you can't build onto Central school. Referring to use of the hosital or light and water office it was explained that the department would not sanction money spent on this type of building. It was requested this matter be left till the rate payers meeting.

Rumors were settled when a parent asked if Cameron was chosen for additions because it was decided to have a central high school for the Pass. Chairman Cornett replied that the department had recommended such a plan but it had fallen through.

Chairman Cornett read the portion of the act to show that the board may decide what school a child goes to. From this point questions increased and statements followed such as:

"I'm not going to force my child. If she suffers in health you will hear from me"

"I could get a doctors certificate. I don't want it that way, I want it fair to everybody"

If you zone Coleman those from that area would be together. That isn't so bad.

Questions and answers flowed freely with some thought expressed to forming a parent teacher association. From this point Mr. Allen was able to explain the manner in which the draw was conducted.

Tempo increased towards the end, the board promising to look into the problem of those children not able to get home for dinner, no other promise could be made. During the heated discussion trustee Wilson tendered his resignation feeling there was a lack of confidence in the board. This was later withdrawn.

Blood Donor Clinic Wed. Sept. 24th

The Coleman - Blairmore Blood Donor Clinic will be held at the C. N. P. hospital from 12 noon to 3 p.m. and 6.30 to 9 p.m., on Wednesday, September 24th.

Attendance among Pass residents in the past has been very high and those in charge are hoping for a similar large attendance if not greater this year. Local use of blood is high and the local hospital is supplied with Groupe O or universal blood every two weeks as well as a supply of plasma.

Blairmore Elks are canvassing for volunteers while Blairmore and Coleman Boards of Trade are working in conjunction serving the transportation needs. The Ladies Auxiliary of the hospital are serving lunch.

One Killed In Highway Accident

One person is dead and two hospitalized as the result of a car accident Wednesday evening. Dead is Jim Sparks, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sparks, of Blairmore.

The accident occurred west of the hospital near the spot where the old and new pavement meets. Both cars were badly damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Peressini, occupants of the other car, are patients in the C.N.P. hospital.

Hunting Season Underway in Pass Area

Local sportsmen took to the hills the first of last week with the opening of the 1952-53 hunting season. Stories of bags and accidents are not short on life as yet but it is felt that the district will show as good game as is pictured here from a previous hunt. This photo shows a bag of two sheep and two goats with one sheep not recorded. The hunters shown here are left to right B. Cole, former owner of the local theatre, J. Kerr, well known local sportsman and owner of Chinook Cabins, Joe Koyach, now forest ranger at Canmore, and Mike Pollak, of Coleman.

Regulations call for season opening on Sept. 1 for Mountain Goat, Mountain Sheep, Grizzly Bear and Brown Bear, and Blue Grouse. Duck season opens Sept. 17; Deer, Elk, and Moose, Nov. 1. The season for Prairie Chickens, Ruffed Grouse, Spruce Partridge, Hungarian Partridge, and Pheasant opens Oct. 4.

The maximum number of animals that may be taken under any license is 5, which shall be a mountain goat, a mountain sheep, a grizzly bear and a black bear, and either one moose, one elk, or one deer, or under special license, one caribou.

Bag limits, Ducks, 8 per day; Geese, 5 per day.

Crow Coalers Appoint Coach

Crows Nest Pass Coalers will take to the ice this year under a new coach with the appointment of Al. Rogers to replace Tony Veljprava.

Former coach of the Kirkcaldy Five Flyers in the English league, Rogers is a product of the Saskatoon hockey schools playing juvenile, junior and senior with teams at that centre. In 1933 he was with the senior team that reached the Allan Cup finals and later toured Europe, winning the world title at Milan, Italy. In 1935, as playing coach of the North Battleford Millers, he and his team made an extensive tour of Japan. He joined the English teams in 1936, taking over coaching duties in 1948.

At a recent meeting of the Coalers Hockey Club it was decided to publish a report on the standing of the club and other information that might be of interest to the public.

Previous to August 1950 the club was managed by a private party who held the franchise. At that time to keep the club from disbanding a committee was formed and they took over the franchise, as it was too late in the season, they continued to use the name of 'Lions' for that season. The present Coalers Hockey Club committee is composed of people who feel that junior hockey is a good thing to keep going in the Pass, especially with the object of giving local boys a chance to become players without leaving the district. It takes time to make a hockey player but the committee hopes that each year from now on will see more local boys on the junior team.

The Junior A. committee when they took over the franchise found the club was in bad financial condition, that has been a big handicap in managing the financial affairs of the club during the past two seasons. To keep the good name of the club it has been necessary to pay some of the old debts by cash payment, compromise or other wise. In the following report the 'Old Debts' refers to debts outstanding prior to August 1950.

Coalers Financial Report for April 27, 1952

New Hours Instituted At Cameron School

A new schedule of time for West Coleman school was instituted at the board meeting Monday night subject to the approval of the department. This arose out of the general meeting, and the board felt that by this change they would be able to eliminate the major complaint received in the transferring of children to Cameron school.

Cameron school hours will now be 9 a.m. to 11.50 a.m. and 1.40 p.m. to 4 p.m. This will allow the school bus to discharge Cameron transfer children at Central by noon. The later noon opening will allow the bus to leave Central at 1.30 giving the children the full 1 1/2 hour dinner. This eliminates the hurry of dinner some experienced when the bus left Central at 1.15 or 1.20.

Other business saw the board deal with tenders for the installation of a door at West Coleman' the tender of Celli's being accepted. The estimated costs of two schemes to repair the house in the school yard were shelved till next meeting.

The Forestry Department were granted the auditorium the evening of Sept. 26. At this point emphasis was placed on a motion in the books that anyone desiring use of the auditorium must apply in a letter to the board.

Application of Mrs. R. Lingard to be placed on the substitute teachers list was accepted. Total enrolment at schools is 644 with 82 enrolled in grade 1.

The grant of $55.23 from the department for the projector, was given to the J.R. High that group having purchased the machine.

LIGHTS INSTALLED ON HIGHWAY

Town workmen set up and installed the warning black lights and the neon sign on No. 3 Highway last week. The flashing neon will serve to point out the entrance to Coleman and testify to the progressive attitude of the town and its various organizations. Blinking warning lights at the town limits will draw attention to motorists that they are within town limits and should reduce speeds.

Mrs. S. Malanchuk Laid To Rest Sunday

The community was saddened last week with the passing of Mrs. Sam Malanchuk. Mrs. Katherine Malanchuk was born in the Ukraine in 1876. Her husband came to Canada in 1912, Mrs. Malanchuk and her sons coming here in 1921.

On Friday Sept 5 Mrs. Malanchuk passed away leaving to mourn her loss her husband four sons, three daughters in law and six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sept. 7 from the residence of the body being laid to rest in the Union cemetery.

VERY REV. DEAN L. SULLIVAN WILL OBSERVE SILVER JUBILEE THURSDAY, SEPT. 18

Dean Sullivan is a native of Prince Edward Island and was educated at St. Dunstan's University, Charlottetown, the St. Basil's Seminary, Quebec and St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto. He was ordained in his home parish at Cardigan, P.E. Island by the late Bishop Louis J. O'Leary in July of 1927, and has served in the Calgary Diocese for the past 25 years. He was appointed to Coleman in July of 1940 and was named Dean of the district when the present Bishop Harrington was transferred to St. Basil's Parish in Lethbridge. The Jubilarian will offer a Solemn Mass of thanksgiving in Holy Ghost church Thursday morning, Sept. 18, at 10.30. Assisting officers at the Mass will be his two brothers Rev. J. Sullivan, of Entwistle, Alta. and Rev. J. Sullivan, of Clyde, Alta. The sermon for the occasion will be preached by Rev. J. Sullivan. A number of Priests of the diocese and neighboring diocese will be present.

Spectators Thilled At Fire Competition

Hundreds of Coleman and Pass residents attending the first hose coupling contest and varied program have expressed complete satisfaction and delight with the show. The event that captured the top spot with spectators proved to be the extinguishing of an oil fire with fog nozzle and water. The speed with which this was done amazed nearly all in attendance.

Coleman Colliers team remained 20.1 and 2nd place throughout the coupling competitions emerging as victors over the other 4 teams with a time of 21 and 3/5 seconds. Frank placed second with 20-3/5 and Coleman No. 3 team 3rd with 25-3/5. Coleman No. 1 and Blairmore teams were eliminated in the early runs. Comprising the winning team were John Kinnear, Capt.; Arnaldo D'Luca, Paul Lavasser, and Emil Ukrainetz.

Blairmore smoke eaters came out on top in a water fight at the Central school grounds defeating a badly soaked but hard fighting Coleman crew. Education entered the picture at this point when the fight was followed by a demonstration of extinguishing an incendiary bomb with stirrup pump, CO2 gas and dry chemical. This demonstration was given by Mr. Bedard, deputy Fire Commissioner, Joe Malanchuk, and Henry Zak.

The oil fire in the pit at the arena was extinguished in a matter of two seconds when the local brigade demonstrated the use of water and the fog nozzle in the first fire. Officials at the competitions were judges, Fire Commissioner A. E. Bridges and his assistant N. J. Bedard, both of Edmonton; starter, Fire Marshal W. Walker and timekeeper A. Hallaway assistant fire marshal, both of Vancouver. Public address announcements were handled by Ray Spiller and Lor Richards.

A banquet and social evening in the Grand Union Hotel closed the day's activities and was under the chairmanship of Aldo Montabetti. During the evening the firemen discussed next year's contest and were entertained with music by Bert Bond, Angelo Tossolini, Hector Pivdvor and G. Minnie.

The members of the winning coupling team were presented with individual engraved electric mantle clocks by A. E. Bridges, as prizes from the Fire Commissioner's office. Each member will also receive a miniature trophy.

Carnival Provides Gala Entertainment

Three days of fun and chance passed last weekend when Coleman patronized the three-day carnival sponsored by the Sports Association. Receipts have not been tallied completely and a statement is not available for this issue, however it is felt that the association have added considerably to their funds. Perhaps the most disappointing feature will prove to be the returns from the sale of tickets on major prizes.

Attendance at the carnival did not seem large at any time, yet those in attendance seemed to be patronizing the games rather than walking around. Bingo showed to be the most popular game again and added to its driving powers by offering good prizes.

Friday night's prize of a bicycle was won by Emilia DeGecco with the travelling bags of Saturday awarded to Elaine Rougehead. The prize that everyone seemed to want was drawn for on Monday night, the chrome kitchen suite being won by R. Parry.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS DO CAL PROSPECT

A party of University students from Eastern Canada are employed under the supervision of Glenn Aray in prospecting for coal in this area. Working for Coleman Colliers, the men have been active in the Vicky Creek, Tent Mountain and Daisy Creek areas.

Bristol Foster, a member of the party, is utilizing the opportunity and his spare time to add specimens to the museum of the University of Toronto. During his off moments he catches and stuffs such small mammals as rock rabbits, various mice and shrews.

Comprising the party are Bristol Foster, University of Toronto; Bob Nicholson, University of B.C.; Eli Ansara, graduate of Queens University and Don Angold, McMaster University. Clive Syme, also of McMaster left the party last week returning east. All are students of geology.

Troops Getting Real Experience In Field In Big Manoeuvres

(By Jim Sherbanuk, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WAINWRIGHT, Alta.—Canada's largest army training camp looked like a ghost town recently with most of its 6,000 troops bedded down somewhere in a 140,000-acre wilderness.

Exercise Buffalo 3, one of the largest army manoeuvres since the end of the Second World War, has brought into action almost every able-bodied man in the huge military camp. Other groups involved in the scheme include a special corps of signal cadets from Vernon, B.C., and catering personnel from Esquimalt, B.C.

Near-freezing temperatures at night and a chilling rain made hastily-dug slit trenches a far cry from the comfortable living quarters the men had known for the last three months.

Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, commanding officer of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, replacement group gave his men the order for the last major night manoeuvre—a withdrawal to a new position more than 30 miles from the camp proper.

In an interview at brigade headquarters, Brig. Pangman said: "The outstanding lesson to be learned from this kind of exercise is the realization of physical privation experienced on the battlefield."

"Living in all kinds of weather, moving only at night and a change of living quarters help to make seasoned troops from green recruits. Wainwright army camp is an excellent training ground in this and all other respects."

Action involved troops under Brig. Pangman and the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry under Lt.-Col. Jim Stone, "enemy" leader.

A brief visit was paid the battlefield by British Maj.-Gen. M. M. A. R. West, new general officer commanding the British Commonwealth division in Korea. Gen. West is en route to Korea.

Among observers at the exercise were two United States army officers and a military leader from Britain.

Funny and Otherwise

Mess Sergeant: Why don't you eat your fish? Something wrong with it?

Private: Long time no sea!

Kidder: "Which end of a cow gets up first?"

Chugwater: "My experience in buying beef is that both ends of the animal rise at the same time."

Tourist: "Any big men born around here?"

Native: "Nope, best we can do is babies. Different in the cities, I suppose."

"How did your brother die?"

"He fell through some scaffolding."

"What was he doing up there?"

"Being hanged."

A schoolboy entered the bookstore and wandered around the shelves for a considerable time. Finally he chose a book entitled "Advice to Young Mothers."

"It's for a friend of mine who collects moths," he explained to the surprised bookseller.

He was much more enthusiastic over the looks of his wife than his friends were. "She's marvelous," he declared. "She just floated down from heaven and landed in front of me."

Whispered one of the listeners: "Too bad, wasn't it, that she landed on her face?"

The clerk just had completed a quarter century of faithful service. At the end of the day the boss handed him an envelope inscribed: "In token of this memorable day."

The clerk opened the envelope and inside it he found a photograph of his employer.

"Well, what do you think of my gift to you in recognition of your devoted service?" asked the proprietor.

"It's just like you," was the ambiguous reply.

Customer: "The automobile is taking the place of the horse everywhere these days."

Butcher: "Do you really think so, Madame?"

Customer: "Yes, I found a piece of tire in the sausages you sold me yesterday."

"You don't look so good, old man. What's the trouble?"

"I got domestic trouble."

"But, Harry, you said your wife was a pearl."

"Yeah, that she is. It's the mother-of-pearl that makes the trouble."

Tale of a man who now leaves his wife at home when he goes to the ball game:

"What's so exciting — why are you jumping up and down?" she asked.

"Look!" he exclaimed. "The Dodgers have a man on every base."

"So what?" she scoffed. "So have the Giants."

MONTREAL.—It's an advantage to children to be "left-eyed."

That's what Lawrence Dayhaw, Professor of psychology at the University of Ottawa, said here.

Speaking to Montreal's Richelieu Club, he said medical opinion is that children tend to be either "left-eyed" or "right-eyed."

Because reading as we do it is from left to right, "left-eyed" children have a better chance than the other kind of saving their sight, he said.

HOW THEY DO IT

Spiders can walk over their own webs because they coat their legs with an oily substance from their mouths.

Printing inks are a mixture of pigment and varnish.

VICTIM OF CHILDREN'S FLAIR FOR REALISM — A childish game with his chums in a neighbor's backyard resulted in the almost fatal hanging of 10-year-old Garnet Rickens, of Ottawa. Playing cowboys and Indians, a flavor of realism was added to the game when youngster was hanged by the neck from a clothesline standard six feet above the ground until he was unconscious and "black as coal." Only the timely intervention of a neighbor, who, having heard the children cry out that "Garnet was dead," applied artificial respiration, saved the boy from death. —Central Press Canadian.

Even Mean Horse Can Be Useful

EDMONTON. — There's one thing about horses that can't be said for humans, says Herman Linder. The really bad ones have a use.

They end up with careers as bucking stock in rodeos.

And rodeo producer Linder of Cardston, Alta., is a man who knows all about mean horses.

He's been in the rodeo business since 1924 when, at the age of 17, he won top money at the Cardston stampede.

Linder says cowboy life is pretty much a gamble. Most are lucky if they make $2,000 or $3,000 a year—not counting expenses — although about 15 cowboys in the world make more than $20,000 a year and a few more win $10,000 to $20,000.

One of the luckier ones, Mr. Linder, hung up his chaps and spurs in 1939 and has been ranching in Southern Alberta and judging and producing stampedes since then.

He says he got out of the broncho riding life with "nothing more" than a smashed knee and a chipped spine.

"A man is seldom killed by a horse," says Mr. Linder. "The Brahmas Bulls are responsible for most rodeo deaths."

Brahmas Bulls are imported from California. The bucking animals are ridden one day, then rest for two days to get back in shape.

"Like horses," Mr. Linder says, "it's only the mean ones that are used."

"But they are really mean."

Ask Parliament To Consider Tax Injustice

OTTAWA.—W. S. Fisher of the Income Tax Appeal Board, in a judgment made public, urged Parliament to consider at its next session as apparent injustice against parents of children born in December, the last month of the taxation year.

Mr. Fisher said he had "every sympathy" for W. G. McMurray of Toronto, who appealed his 1950 income tax assessment. But the judge said that because of the present wording of the Income Tax Act he could do nothing else but dismiss the appeal.

Mr. McMurray claimed a $400 exemption for a daughter born Dec. 25, 1950. The income tax department cut the deduction to $150 on the ground that the child was "eligible" for family allowance payment.

The appellant's complaint — and Judge Fisher agreed — was that while a child born and registered in December is "eligible" for family allowances that month, under the Family Allowance Act the actual payment is not made until the following month.

Also, family allowances are paid only until the age of 16, so that parents of December-born children are allowed a deduction of only $150 a year for 17 years. Parents of children born in any month get a $150 a year deduction for 16 years and a $400 deduction in the 17th year when the child goes off the family allowance rolls.

Children Have Fun Driving Small Cars

REGINA.—Jim Ryan is a district farmer who became a success in the entertainment field down on the farm.

There's a miniature racing circuit on the Ryan farm where children delight in driving four small, motor-powered cars that have independent steering.

The idea developed when he built a tiny vehicle for his seven-year-old son to drive around the farm, after the boy had outgrown his pedal car.

Now the track on the farm is a popular place on evenings and Sundays. He can look after the racing business without giving up his farm work.

Occasionally he takes the cars into the country for various celebrations.

But the track on the farm is a popular place on evenings and Sundays. He can look after the racing business without giving up his farm work.

There's a nominal fee of 10 cents a ride, but Ryan isn't fussy about it. "I like to have children around me and I enjoy seeing them have fun," he says.

Cattle Rustling Once Again Hits District In Quebec

QUEBEC. — Cattle rustling with the gusto of a Hollywood western pitted against the conveniences of modern science has again hit the Quebec City district.

Lucien Roy, a farmer at St. Charles, awoke one morning to find several hundred dollars worth of fattened cows missing from his pasture.

It was the same story next day for Farmer Caron of Laurierville. Farmers near Laval each reported losses of more than $500 in cows, heifers and sheep.

Posses organized to search for the rustlers are a far cry from the garb and mode of Hollywood. These vigilantes wear the serviceable khaki of the Quebec Provincial Police, equipped with the latest instruments in crime detection.

The rustlers apparently use trucks to rush the cattle to large city markets.

Says Lieut. Conrad Giroux, chief of detectives:

"They wait for late August when the animals are fattened for market. We've usually been able to follow their tracks to big city markets, but they're too fast for us. The cattle usually have been sold by the time we reach the late stages of investigation."

SECOND BITE WAS JUST ONE TOO MANY

NANAIMO, B.C.—A Gabriola Island mother brought her infant daughter to hospital here to be treated for knee bites indicated by the family collie pup. She returned home to find her three-year-old son bitten about the face and had to ferry him here. She gave orders that the pup be banished before her return.

Do You Know That . . .

If there is no return address on the envelope it is opened at the dead letter office and if there is no clue to the sender the letter, if it does not contain cash or documents, is destroyed. When returned to the sender there is no postage due.

Northern B.C. Town Great Shipping Centre For Grain

DAWSON CREEK, B.C. — British Columbia may not be one of Canada's top grain-growing provinces, but this rail-shipping town in far-northeast B.C. handles more grain in a season than any primary shipping point in the three prairie provinces.

The Alberta Wheat Pool reports that Dawson Creek, in the B.C. section of the Peace River Block extending into northern Alberta, handled 2,671,408 bushels of grain from farmers in the 1951-52 crop year.

Dawson Creek is at the end of rail lines and is also the start for the Alaska highway. It is the shipping point for farmers over a large area, and a big quantity comes down the Alaska highway, with some grain grown 70 miles north of Dawson Creek.

Is Length of Throwing Stride Important?

Coaching experts figure that throwing is the hardest of all baseball skills to learn and also one in which the average person can stand the most improvement. One of the most important factors which controls the efficiency of your throw is the length of your throwing stride.

Actually the stride forward you take from your "ready to throw" position, when throwing a ball, is similar to, and as important as, the small stride you use when you step forward from your "ready to hit" position to make your swing. Your feet are already slightly apart as the ball is gathered. The important thing to remember is that you should take the same length of stride every time. If you don't you will be inaccurate and wide.

The ideal throwing stride is about 6 to 8 inches long, so check on the length of your throwing stride and see how close you are to this ideal length. Also have someone check your length to see if you take a different length of stride each time you throw. To develop an even stride, place a target on the ground 6 or 8 inches in front of you and then a ball back and forth with a friend, trying to hit this target each time you step forward and throw.

This sort of drill will soon get your stride into the proper groove. When you stride be sure your toes are pointing straight at the target and not off to one side. Remember, a controlled throwing stride will help you tremendously in developing an accurate throw and there is nothing that will help improve your game more than this.

Build Up for Next Track Season

Yes, the next few months can mean the difference between a mediocre year in track for you and a year filled with success and many records. Bob Richards the 1952 Olympic Games pole vault winner and record breaker uses the following few months to build himself up by weight training for the coming season. To get a complete breakdown on just how to go about strengthening that body of yours send in 25c for a copy of the first edition of the Research Guide.

Not Enough Coaches

One of the great problems confronting young Canadian athletes is the lack of coaching.

The way to overcome this is to work out an arrangement with a friend who is also keen to become an athlete, he coaching you and you helping him.

This self-coaching system is a lot of fun and after awhile you will find that both you and your friend will become really good at finding mistakes, making suggestions and so on. Perhaps you will even discover you have a real talent for coaching. Another interesting point is this, by coaching others you learn a lot yourself. By telling him the right way to do things you impress these correct habits of play on your own mind. If you both work hard you can accomplish big things.

Don't forget that among other things, membership in Sports College entitles you to get its literature, consisting of bulletins and booklets considered by experts the world over to be the best material of its kind ever compiled. So take advantage of this and join now. To join, send a letter to: Sports College, Box 99, Toronto 1, Ontario, and say you would like to become a member.

OLD CURRENCY WOULD NOT STAND HANDLING

KINGSTOWN, Ont.—Louis Munez was a rich man for a few moments. While digging post holes for a contractor he discovered a tin can filled with old-fashioned currency which has been out of circulation since 1929. As he began counting the bills, they disintegrated into tiny pieces, none larger than a thumbnail.

ADVICE THAT IS GOOD FOR EVERYONE

For some reason, we're inclined to applaud the words of the Oregon farmer who, when congratulating his graduated son on landing a nice job, advised the lad never to regard himself as indispensable. "If," said the old man, "you're ever inclined to do do, stick your finger in a bucket of water and notice the hole it leaves when you pull it out."—Collier's.

Actions speak louder than words.

On The Side : E. V. Durling

In Paraguay, introductions are unnecessary. If a man is attracted by a passing green-eyed blonde or a blue-eyed brunette, he approaches her and asks: "Have you a husband or sweetheart?" The woman takes no offence at this and if not interested answers: "Yes." The man then bows and withdraws. However, if the young woman is interested, she says: "I have neither sweetheart nor husband. What is your proposition?" Whether or not that system would work well in this country is problematical. Still, if the rules were followed, it might be the beginning of many a beautiful friendship.

And In Uruguay

In Uruguay the law is that a working mother must give up her job for a month before her child's birth and rest for a month after. Her position is held for her. She is given half pay for the period. It is also a law in Uruguay that every employed woman must work seated. No standing up on the job allowed for females. There they still think the female is the weaker sex.

Safety Cigarette Holders

An inventor says he has perfected a practical "safety cigarette holder", and has a quantity ready to market. However, he is having difficulty in making sales. This cigarette holder permits a person to smoke in bed with no danger of starting a fire. If I were in the inventor's place, I would try to interest hotels in buying quantities of this holder to present to guests. I would also try to enlist the co-operation of fire insurance companies in promoting the use of safety cigarette holders.

Forgotten Men

Are the small fellows the forgotten men of the ready-to-wear clothing industry? A subscriber, who gives his height as 5 feet and his weight as 140 pounds, says yes. He claims it is practically an impossibility for a five-footer to acquire a ready-to-wear suit to fit him. Currently in search of a new suit, he has tried 25 different retail clothing outlets with no luck.

Going Too Far

A drug that makes timid persons courageous. That's what 16 British doctors, working together on the experiment, claim to have discovered. Only trouble with this preparation is: It has a tendency to make a man too courageous. That is, a 5-footer after taking a dose is inclined to kick some 6-footer in the shins. It makes husbands talk back to their wives and inspires show bettors to wager to win. And so on.

Preponderance of Women

In the 25 to 40 age group in Germany there are 300 unmarried women to one unmarried man. The situation has become so desperate some women have launched a share-the-husbands campaign. In Berlin there are 600,000 more women than men. Many of the women are beautiful. Telephone numbers of eligible bachelors are sold for high prices. The preferred bachelors are United States service men. They average 15 proposals of marriage a week.

Roller-Skating Rooster

Buster, whose Los Angeles owner is teaching him to be a roller-skating rooster, slides under a player's legs during a practice run. Buster's legs are taped to the skates. His owner, Billy Lehr, gives him a push and Buster rolls along until his momentum stops. Once in a while Buster lifts one skate as if he's almost getting the idea.

Prairie Provinces Receive Increase In Tourist Traffic

REGINA.—United States tourist traffic in Saskatchewan during July, 1952, was up slightly over that in July, 1951, according to Dominion bureau of statistics figures.

The figures, received by the provincial government tourist branch and issued through the bureau of publications, indicated also that for the first seven months of 1952 there was a tourist gain of close to five per cent. over last year.

In July, 1952, some 4,055 United States cars crossed the border into Saskatchewan on traveler's vehicle permits, issued for periods longer than 48 hours.

This was a gain of 127 cars, or 3.2 per cent. over similar figures for July, 1951. Average gain for Canada as a whole for July was 2.5 per cent., with Alberta leading the percentage increase with 13.1 per cent. Manitoba's increase was 8.3 per cent.

For the first seven months of the present year, Saskatchewan's tourist traffic rose by 4.9 per cent., just under the national average of 5.4 per cent.

In this period, 10,309 United States vehicles entered under traveler's permits, compared to 9,824 in the same period of 1951. Leading in the seven-month period was Alberta, with a gain of 17.9 per cent. Manitoba was second, with an increase of 11.9 per cent.

The annual Antarctic whale catch represents more than 500,000 tons of meat, more than all the beef exported in an average year by Argentina, the world's leading beef exporter.

THANK YOU FOR TAKING THE POLICY, MR. HIGGINS. HERE'S A STRIKER FOR YOUR WINDSHIELD.

PRISCILLA'S POP—The Losing Fight

FIRST AID

First Aid is just what the two words imply, namely the earliest possible intelligent aid or help given to the victim of an accident or sudden illness. This aid is usually of a temporary nature only, to be given at once, at the scene of the accident or sudden illness and before a doctor is available to assume responsibility.

ILLNESS CAUSED BY EXCESSIVE HEAT

Prolonged exposure to excessive heat frequently results in one of the following conditions: Sun Stroke or Heat Stroke; Heat Exhaustion or Heat Cramps.

Prevention. Normally, there is a definite balance between heat production and heat loss in the body.

When a person works in a high temperature, sweating is the chief means of keeping the body cool. Sweating not only removes water but also large quantities of salt from the body. These must be replaced by drinking the necessary amount of water, and by taking extra salt.

Industries employing men working in hot places supply salt tablets (5 to 10 grs) close to the drinking water supply. One or two tablets are taken with each cup of water.

Clothing

Sweat cools the body as it evaporates. When working in excessively high temperatures, loose thin clothing should be worn, and the less clothing the better. Exposure to air currents from fans or open windows assists the evaporation.

To reduce the production of body heat, eat lightly and of easily digested foods. If necessary to work during the hot period of a day, do so in short periods, alternate with rest periods. This should be particularly so during the first few days of exposure to unusual heat. A tolerance may be developed.

Avoid exposure to the direct rays of the sun. Keep the head covered. Take small amounts of fluids frequently, but avoid alcohol, iced tea or iced coffee.

FAMILIAR FACES

Familiar faces are beautiful faces. Though perfection may have passed them by.

The marks of living; so much taking and giving. May have set the features somewhat awry.

Familiar faces are beautiful faces. Our eyes light up when we chance to see

A remembered face in some outlandish place. Where nothing but strangers there seemed to be.

Oh, yes, those faces are beautiful faces. And we treasure each one though we know not why.

We read each story; the defeat and glory. In familiar faces as they draw nigh.

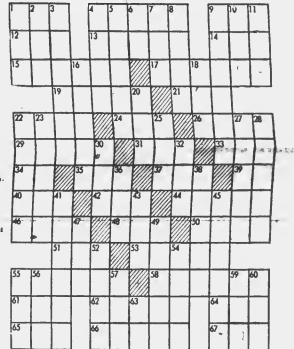

Familiar faces are beautiful faces. As far away over the world's sea roam. When memory brings on swift wings

The remembered faces of those at home.

Moores to Ralph Henry Comer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Comer, 3831 Saanich Road. The Rev. Canon R. Willis officiated at the double ring ceremony and Mrs. H. M. Horsefield played the organ interludes.

Matron of honor was Mrs. S. Liska, of Coleman. The five bridesmaids, Pauline Sandulak, R.C.A.P. Station Trenton, Ont., Miss Olga Antonenko, Coleman, Miss Joan Piskla, Blairmore, Miss Irene Hatalick, Coleman and Miss Irene Liska, Eckville, Alta., wore three-quarter length gowns of taffeta over tulle trimmed with lace. The gowns were of five different colors, pink, aqua, yellow, mauve, and green, with matching skullcaps. They carried bouquets of tinted carnations to blend with their gowns.

Flower girls Irene Wons, Coleman, and Helen Liska, Eckville, were dressed in pink. Enzo Brazzoni, Bellevue was best man, ushers being Sammy Sandulak, Stan Wells, Alex Max and Billy Ozar. Miss Ann Bodisch rendered three appropriate hymns.

Following the service a reception was held at the couple's newly constructed home in Coleman. The portion of the room set aside for the wedding party was tastefully decorated in white and wedding bells, the remainder hung with streamers matching the colors of the bridesmaids' gowns. Cedar bows completed the decorations.

Following a honeymoon to various American points, the couple will reside in Coleman.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joe Liska Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Liska sr., Mr. and Mrs. L. Piskla, Virginia and Louie Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Piskla and Bonnie, all of Eckville; Mr. and Mrs. T. Toeh and Mr. and Mrs. P. Sherman, Calgary; and Mrs. S. Sandulak, Ponoka.

DOBEK — KANIK

A very lovely wedding was solemnized on Saturday, August 9 at 10 a.m. in the Holy Ghost church, Coleman, when Ethel, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Kanik, of Coleman, became the bride of Mr. John Francis Dobek, of Blairmore, Very Rev. Dean Sullivan officiated at the nuptial mass. The altar was banked with carnations, snapdragons and mums. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Frances Maurer.

Given in marriage by her brother Steve Mraz, the bride was charming in a floor length gown of white nylon net featuring a bouffant skirt and leg-o-mutton sleeves. Bodice was of satin brocade floral design and an inset yoke of nylon net. Her veil forming a train was held in place by a headpiece of hearts beaded with tiny pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Anne Kremnica, of Bellevue, acting as matron of honor, chose a dress of nylon sheer printed with delicate flowers on white with matching accessories.

The bridesmaids were Miss Irene Kuran and Agnes Kanik, who wore floor length gowns of pink net over taffeta and matching chapel veils, and carried crescent bouquets of pink carnations and mauve gladioli.

Joan Mraz and Angelina Zembiak were flower girls attired in blue organdy and carried nosegays of pink carnations and white sweetpeas.

Mr. Glen Parry attended the groom and Mr. Angelo Pozzi, of Calgary, was usher.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The table was centred with a three tiered wedding cake and summer flowers decorated the table. Very Rev. Dean Sullivan of the Holy Ghost parish and Rev. Falher Andersen, of St. Anne's Parish, Blairmore, proposed the bridal toast to which the groom responded.

For travelling the bride wore a powder blue suit and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Following a honeymoon spent in Great Falls they will reside in Blairmore.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Gorcak, Veteran, Alta.; Mrs. Joe Curran, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. S. Gorcak, Veteran; and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maliska, Ghost Pine Creek, Alta.

DIBBLEE — CHRISTENSEN

At the church of Our Lord on Friday, August 15, at 3:30 p.m., the Rev. Dr. J. G. Brown solemnized the marriage of Dolamrie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Christensen, of Campbell River, to Edwin Walter Dibblee, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dibblee, of Coleman, Alta. The wedding music was played by Mr. J. Ingraham Smith.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white gown fashioned with strapless lace bodice and bouffant skirt of alternate tiers of net and lace, topped by a jacket of lace with Mandarin collar and long pointed sleeves. A fingertip veil was gathered to a lace Juliet cap. Pearl earrings were her only jewelry and she carried a bouquet of red roses and fern.

The bride's attendants were Miss Jean Alder and Miss Marjorie Daubeney wearing twin frocks of pale blue nylon over taffeta with low neckline and short sleeves, matching mitts and bandeaux of flowers in their hair corresponding with the pink sweetheart roses and summer flowers in their colonial bouquets. The best man was Mr. Tom Flynn and ushers were Mr. Dennis Perry and Mr. John Kearney.

three tiered cake, flanked by white candles in silver candleabra.

The toast was given by Commander H. C. C. Daubeney.

Flying to Calgary and driving to Coleman for their honeymoon, the bride wore for travelling a navy blue gabardine suit with white and navy accessories and a gardenia corsage.

They will make their home in Victoria.

C.P.R. TO DIESELIZE PASS LINES

According to the latest reports, the C.P.R. will utilize diesels through the Pass within the next year.

The announcement stated that the next to be tackled as a complete switchover to diesel will be the Crows Nest Pass line through the Kootenay and Kettle Valley section of B.C. This is to be changed next year, and a new diesel service plant is now under construction at Nelson, B.C.

These diesels measuring 150 feet long weigh 510,000 pounds and cost 500,000.

Frosts have started to transform this area into a color photographer's paradise. At the end of last week trees along the creeks and in bottom lands were resplendent in color. Travelling along the Kananaskis Labor Day snow was visible along the road near Cataract Creek.

"Across The Wide Missouri" scheduled for the Roxy Sept 11 and 12 is a picture that will please everyone. A story of early trappers, suspicious Indians and stupidity of one man brings you love, brutality and revenge. Filmed in technicolor in mountainous country it proves top ranking entertainment.

Sept. 13 and 15 offers the western fan another fine showing of Indian warfare that he perhaps missed in "Across the Wide Missouri". "Apache Drums" tells another story of this brave tribe that swept in hordes out of the night, and the valiant men that met them.

The thrill of your childhood and an opportunity for your own kiddy is offered with Walt Disney's "Alice In Wonderland", Sept. 16 and 17. You owe it to the children to take them to this show in beautiful color. Old as you may be you will still enjoy this film.

A secret marriage, songs and laughter galore are presented in "About Face" Sept. 18 and 19. Stars include Gordon MacRea and Eddie Bracken.

"Calling Bulldog Drummond" will play a one night stand at the Roxy on September 20.

"Showboat" Sept. 22, 23 and 24 brings back Joe E. Brown to star along with Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel and Ava Gardner, in perhaps the best film ever made about this old time form of entertainment. This picture brings you talent, racial prejudice, gambling, heartbreak and color. The management feels that such a show deserves a 3 day booking. See it and you will agree.

LOCAL MAN DEFEATS HIGH COST OF BUILDING

Doug. Plant has taken a page out of history, coupled it with a will to work and determination to solve his housing problem. A man of vision and energy he has eliminated the high cost of material and erected a log house for himself and family. This is a house that will win the praise of those who see it and a house Mr. Plant may well be proud of.

Turning five days of his holidays towards his aim Doug travelled to the Camp 10 road on Allison Creek, cut, peeled and flattened enough logs with a broad axe to erect a four room house with bath, measuring 24 by 28. Each night after work he labors feverishly until dark and at the end of last week had the logs placed up-right, the roof on and petitions erected. Green strip shingles on the roof and stain on the logs will follow caulking the logs with oakum and placing of v-strip between logs.

When completed this home with large picture windows looking out to the mountains will add considerably to the beauty of Grafton Town, stand as a credit to man's initiative and as proof that the will to own is still the prime factor in any endeavour if coupled with the will to work.

IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS TOUR PASS AREA

A. J. Morrison, A. R. Kaarsberg, G. M. Mitchell and J. E. Leigh, representatives of the Immigration Department made a tour of the Pass area on the 28th, 29th and 30th of August. Lote, local immigration officer and manager of the Pass Unemployment Insurance office conducted the party at Coleman, assisted by Wm. Frazer, mine manager of the International plant. The party surveyed the main tunnel and all the outside workings at International.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Alphonse Thierghien who died Sept. 23, 1950.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.

We miss the sunshine of his face,
His fond and loving care,
Our home is dark without you father.

We miss you everywhere,
God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon his love had given,
And though the body moulders
here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

Ever remembered by his loving wife VI, and children, Walter,
Virginia and Fay.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother Agnes Gillespie who died Sept. 10th, 1950.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better God never made;
A wonderful worker so loyal and true.
One in a million—that mother,
was you.
Just in your judgment, always right;
Honest and Liberal, ever up-
right;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew.
Our wonderful mother — that mother was you.
—Sadly missed by husband and family.

COUNCIL MEETING POSTPONED

The regular meeting of the town council scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 2 was cancelled due to absence of members. Holidays and work schedules of the councillors prevented enough in attendance to carry out business.

Scheduled to be the first meeting in the newly redecorated chambers, the board would have sat down in pleasing surroundings as the result of the work under contractor Celli and decorator Steve Malanchuk.

Those councillors in attendance took the opportunity of the gathering to discuss various projects and matters of interest to the town.

EARLY COPY PLEASE

In the past the Journal has followed a policy of taking news items as late as a few hours before publication. This practice often entailed a great deal of extra work at the last minute and taxed the staff in their efforts to get the paper out on the deadline. It is hoped that the public will co-operate by turning in their items no later than Saturday noon. Just remember copy should be in at noon the Saturday prior to miners' pay day.

In an effort to give Coleman the best paper possible the Journal wants the news of you and your friends. If the office should be closed place your news in the mail box on the door.

QUAKE HITS CALIFORNIA AGAIN—The force of the double earthquake that hit Bakersfield, Calif., is manifest in this view of the city's main street, covered with rubble and fallen bricks. The tremors claimed two—and probably four—lives. At least 31 persons were injured, four seriously. The earth wallop was the second to hit the South-Central California oil and agricultural centre in a month.—Central Press Canadian.

TV FOR THE BLIND—The New York guild for the Jewish blind of America has introduced a screenless television set for the country's 250,000 blind persons, many of which have expressed the desire to become familiar with the world of television. The newly-developed screenless TV set will allow these people to hear the sound of television. The small portable set, seen being tuned up here by its inventor, Bernard M. Krebs, blind librarian and Braille instructor at the guild, contains both a television audio receiver and an FM radio receiver. Measuring only 12 x 8 x 8 inches, it also contains control knobs described in Braille.

NEW TROMBONE ELIMINATES MUSICAL HAZARDS—David Shuman of Brooklyn, N.Y., is seen demonstrating his new trombone that slides sideways. The inventor of the unique design, and a faculty member of the Julliard school of music, Shuman revealed that the reason for the sideways design is to enable boys to study the trombone at an early age. He explained that young musicians have to stretch their shoulders to reach the lower positions on the standard trombone, but that his trombone, which angles off to the right, requires less effort to play because it shortens the arm movement required for the low position. Also, a trombonist won't knock over the music stand when he reaches for particularly difficult notes.—Central Press Canadian.

NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE PLAN IS STRESSED AT ILC CONVENTION—A national health insurance plan is the keynote of the Trade and Labor Congress of Canada's 67th annual convention now underway at Winnipeg. The 500 labor delegates, representing 522,000 members, quickly and vigorously supported recommendation that congress insist the government enact a contributory health plan to provide medical, surgical, optical, physiotherapeutic and dental treatment and appropriate hospital and nursing facilities. The congress is believed to favor a plan similar to that operated in Britain, with the freedom of patients to choose their own doctor. However, the details of the proposed health plan were not spelled out by the ILC, whose president, Percy Bengough, second from left, and vice-president, William Jenoves, (right), are seen welcoming Arthur MacNamara, (left), deputy minister of labor and Labor Minister Gregg, to meeting.—Central Press Canadian.

FACES DEPORTATION—Serving with the U.S. Signal Corps in Korea, Pfc. Ernest Ebner, of Ridgeway, S.C., ponders the fact that he faces the deportation to Czechoslovakia on his discharge from the army when he returns to the U.S. Ebner entered the country on a three-month visa in 1948 to visit his parents in Chicago. He over-stayed his visit during which time he was married and the immigration service ruled that he would have to leave the country and apply for re-entry. Now the state department has ordered him to leave the country within 30 days from his discharge, expected around September 19, or else be deported.

WHERE CAVE EXPLORER MET DEATH—Funeral services are held for industrial-explorer Marcel Loubens outside the cave in which he met death near Lacq-Athery, in the French Pyrenees. His father, (arrow), stands weeping, a handkerchief pressed to his face. Inset is Dr. Sudrey Mairay, leader of a rescue team, who risked death in a vain attempt to bring the cave-trapped scientist to the surface. A steel cable that was hauling Loubens to safety suddenly snapped and he fell 120 feet to his death.—Central Press Canadian.

ALL-TIME RECORD FOR BAY OF QUINTE—Largest fish on record ever taken from the Bay of Quinte, Ont., is this 212-pound sturgeon caught in a net by Clarence Allen, (left). The big fish was hauled into Allen's commercial fishing boat by the tail. At current prices it should bring Allen over $100.

THIS IS NORTH AMERICA, TOO—Heat waves, drought, rain or balmy breezes may be the lot of most of the inhabitants of North America, but in Alaska soldiers in training are experiencing snow and cold. At Fairbanks, U.S. soldiers, holding mock attack, use regulation white camouflage coveralls as they advance through the crisp, new snow.

BOY SAYS HE SLEPT WITH 'WHITE BEAR' WHILE LOST IN BUSH—David Deugo, age three, spent 18 hours alone in the Muskoka, Ont., bush, where he slept "with a big white bear that didn't bite," ate quarts of blueberries and "took his shoes off to go to bed." He was found by a search party, barefooted and singing to himself, five miles deep in the bush. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Deugo of Weston, Ont., were beginning to fear he would never be found alive, but when they saw him demolish this man-sized meal they concluded he was very much alive. The "white bear" is believed to be a cow or dog.

HAVING TROUBLE WITH HIS HOTEL BILLS—Among the regular habitués of Gracie Field's "Song of the Sea," exclusive beach and restaurant at Capri in the Mediterranean, are ex-King Farouk of Egypt and his wife, Narriman, who are shown at their table. WESTERN INFLUENCE IN JAP FESTIVAL—Influence of the Western occupation forces shows in this float of beauty queens at the celebrations at Yuigahama beach marking the end of the summer holiday season. Communists tried to turn the festival into a "peace demonstration", but could stir up no enthusiasm among the crowd.—Central Press Canadian.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

LOVE AT THE CROSSROADS

By W. H. DAVIES

IT'S A woman's privilege, I suppose. Changing her mind, I mean. Marian was certainly no exception. She blew hot and cold like an autumn wind. The first time I asked her we hadn't known each other long enough, she said. And I was too impulsive . . . not settled enough for her to risk a hasty marriage. I had no quarrel with that so I let it pass.

For a couple of months after that I did everything I could think of to please her. I even left my pipe at home when we went out for an evening. Then I popped the question again. This time she weakened. But it was only long enough for her to get the license. She wanted a big church wedding then. It would take weeks of planning, she said. But the plans didn't jell. They just dissolved like smoke in a breeze. I might have put a few pointed questions to her then except that I did have the license. It was like holding the first mortgage on a piece of property . . . a mighty nice piece of property, I thought.

Some guys prefer to drown their troubles in liquor. I like to drown mine in good coffee and pleasant conversation when I can find the right combination. It's not as much fun but it's cheaper, easier on my stomach and accomplishes the same. That's why I always drove out to the Crossroads when I got to worrying too much about things . . . about Marian and I, for instance. It was a quiet, stimulating little place located on a highway intersection near town. They made good coffee and Agnes, a little red-haired waitress with hazel eyes, furnished the conversation. I always felt better after confiding in Agnes. I could always count on her for a word of encouragement.

"Keep pitching, Johnnie," she'd say with a little smile, as I left. "You're a swell guy. She'll wake up one of these days."

The next time I proposed to Marian we were having dinner at the Crossroads. It might have been the moving tempo of the record player. Or something different in the way I asked her. Maybe it was just that she had been thinking things over. When she lifted those long lashes and looked at me across the table I could see the answer in her electric blue eyes even before she spoke.

"Yes, John," she said serenely. That was all. No reservations.

This time I was certain she'd go through with it. But I wasn't taking chances! It was important, I told her, to avoid delay. We had put it off too long as it was. We were both dressed enough for the occasion.

I was wearing my best and she was prim and beautiful as always. She finally agreed that we would be married quietly and informally later that evening.

Maybe it would have happened anyway but you wonder about such things afterward. I was anxious to get going. You couldn't blame me for that. I called Agnes over to our table and asked her to bring our coffee and the check. She must have been able to tell from my expression what had happened. Maybe it upset her. Anyway she returned quickly with two brimming cups and when she turned her head to give me a quizzical little glance Marian got one of them squarely in her lap.

She leapt to her feet, her eyes blazing. "You ignorant little fool!" she screamed. "Why can't you watch what you're doing!"

Agnes was dabbing at the skirt front with a wet table rag. "I'm terribly sorry," she was saying. "It was an accident."

"An accident?" Marian sneered, shoving the cloth away. You did it deliberately!

Having spent her wrath, Marian whirled and marched out. I paid the check and noticed the tears in Agnes' eyes. "Don't take it too hard, kid," I said and she smiled a little. Marian was waiting in the car when I got outside. She was practically in hysterics.

Now I agree that coffee doesn't look well on the front of an expensive powder blue suit, especially when you're about to be married in it. But I didn't consider it sufficient reason to warrant a nervous breakdown.

Tried to console her but it was hopeless. As I drove her home in silence I began to realize that the coffee stain had taken precedence over our plans to be married. I considered the best to forget it . . . which I did.

Probably no one was more surprised than I when we were married three days later. It was a quiet informal little wedding just like Marian and I planned. Only I married Agnes. You know that little red-head is going to be the best wife a man ever had!

TO SCARE DUCKS, NOT KILL THEM

REGINA.—A machine expected to aid farmers who are suffering severe crop damage by ducks has arrived in Saskatchewan, provincial game commissioner, E. L. Paynter announced.

The sonic equipment, which is called, weighs a little more than two tons. The machine "shoots" a high frequency sound, which discourages ducks from the vicinity. Mr. Paynter said its effective range is not known.

This method has been used for discouraging birds from airports and starlings from high buildings, Mr. Paynter said.

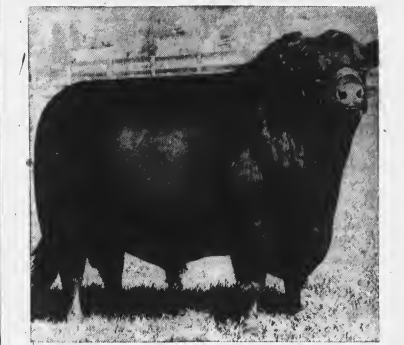

The equipment is coming to Saskatchewan as an experiment through the co-operation of Canadian Wildlife Service, national research and the department of National Resources.

Oldest Twins In Canada Celebrate Ninetieth Birthday

CALGARY.—Joseph Graham of Calgary and his brother Benjamin of Vulcan, Alta., probably Canada's oldest identical twins celebrated their 90th birthdays.

Benjamin moved to Alberta from Ontario in 1904 and took up land in the Vulcan area. Joseph moved west to Vulcan in 1915. While Benjamin has remained at Vulcan, Joseph retired in 1928 and moved to Calgary with his wife. The Josephs celebrated their 80th wedding anniversary last New Year's.

World's Most Valuable Bull

This unpleasant-looking animal is "Prince Sunbeam 249th", the world's most valuable bull, following the sale of one-half of the 1,800-pound Aberdeen to a buyer from San Antonio, Texas, for $100,000—the highest price in the history of cattle buying. The bull was by air between his owner's farm at Red Bank, N.J., and San Antonio, spending six months in each location. Said Dr. Hammer about his bull's definitely non-adonis-like appearance: "The uglier they are, the more attractive and masculine to a cow."—Central Press Canadian.

Study Shows Shelterbelts Reduce Soil Drifting Hazards

OTTAWA.—Establishment of field shelterbelt projects in certain areas in Saskatchewan and Manitoba has permitted a study of the effect of tree rows on wind velocity and crop growth, says W. J. Staple, Soil Research Laboratory, Swift Current, Sask.

A series of dense, 3-row shelterbelts, 18 feet high and spaced at 40-rod intervals, reduced the speed of a cross-wind at all points within intervening strips. A reduction of 10 to 20 per cent was measured at the most exposed points. Hedges of single row caragana, 7 to 9 feet high, did not shelter all points within a 40-rod strip, but the extent of sheltering was at least 20 times the height of the trees.

Other measurements showed that wind velocities were approximately the same at corresponding points in the strips between a series of single-row parallel hedges. There was no evidence of a cumulative effect—that the sheltering increased with the number of hedges to windward.

The extent and depth of snow drifts near field shelterbelts depends on a number of factors such as amount of snowfall, wind speed and direction and type of shelterbelt. In recent years 8-foot caragana hedges have held snow drifts 2 to 4 feet deep and 30 to 65 feet wide on each side of the hedge.

There can be little doubt that field shelterbelts reduce the soil drifting hazard in adjoining fields. Not only is the wind speed reduced but also since field shelterbelts are planted in parallel rows, their use includes most of the benefits of strip farming. No large fields are left exposed, and soil drifting does not occur readily on narrow strips. When high winds occurred on May 25 and 26, 1951, only a trace of soil movement was observed in the sheltered area whereas drifting was quite prevalent in surrounding districts.

The effect of field shelterbelts on crop yields varies with type of shelter.

Cancer was recorded as a disease by the Egyptians in 1500 B.C.

DRUMHELLER, ALTA.

Miner Underground For 45 Years, Never Lost Love For Flowers

DRUMHELLER, Alta.—All during the 45 years that John Gallagher worked in coal mines in England and Alberta he never lost his love of flowers.

Now freed from underground work, the 63-year-old retired miner is concentrating on his first love. This year he grew 7,000 gladioli for the fun of it. Next year he plans to raise more.

In his native Blyth, Northumberland, he used to raise roses when he wasn't down a mine pit. He and his wife, Martha, moved to the Drumheller valley in 1930. Six years ago they bought a 24-acre plot five miles west of this central Alberta coal centre for a garden.

Even before his retirement, Gallagher and his wife worked in their garden every evening, every Sunday and holiday. Every year he added more gladioli bulbs until today he has a collection of nearly 50 varieties.

His wife is dead now, and Gallagher gets his main comfort in life from the acres of blooms. The occasional customer gets a dozen or so, at least on cost.

"Martha and I always loved flowers," the grizzled miner says. "We hoped to raise many things. Now she is gone. The flowers help."

Western Farmers Talk Of Bushels Per Acre

Not Interested in Talking Politics, Football or Summer Vacations

REGINA.—The man in the country isn't talking politics or football or vacations these days. He's talking about his crop and how many bushels he's likely to get to the acre. Travel through vast stretches of rural Saskatchewan and talks with the men driving the tractor in the field give a sample of the thoughts of the farmer, Saskatchewan's most important resident.

He's not mad at anybody. His gripes are being carried away by the warm breezes blowing across his fields of thick, waving grain.

He may wonder a bit about where he will store his crop, but he doesn't seem to have too much complaint about the price.

One farmer near Mortlach, west of Moose Jaw, said he is getting along pretty well. Of course, he has a fair amount of land and maybe a smaller farmer wouldn't find things so good. Still, he thought, a farmer like that would be able to get along too.

The grain man near Canora said farmers he met were not too unhappy about prices. After all, he said, you have to consider the ability of importers to pay.

The man on the tractor near Kam-sack thought machinery prices were too high. But then, he knew some farmers who paid more than the last-price just to get scarce machinery first.

Some farmers thought labor pushed its wage demands too strongly and thereby pushed up prices.

An aggluturist at Swift Current thought farmers were secretly pleased about grain prices. They knew they were going to have to take less sometime but they hoped this didn't occur too soon.

A livestock man collecting stock out of Kelvington said cattle raisers weren't too disheartened by present payment levels. Some of them thought last year's prices were too high.

One farmer said it hadn't rained in his district for a number of weeks at one time during the growing season. How many bushels would he get to the acre? About 25, he said.

What about rural depopulation the experts talk so much about? The pioneer near Lloydminster said the towns along the line never change much. They wouldn't grow appreciably.

The farmer near Nipawin said there wasn't much sense in a strictly grain farm, even though it might let you live in town.

His view: "A farm isn't a farm without cattle."

The farmer near Montmartre said he was living in town now. He hoped, though, to get buildings on his land and move out there. Wanted to be closer to it, he said.

A symptom of a move back to the land? Nobody could tell, but at least it was an indication the movement was not all one way.

Another indication is in the sleek modern one-story farm houses with picture-window that is going up on many a farm.

Major worries of the farmer today are the weather and the keeping of machinery in repair for the next several weeks.

Recommends Park In Dinosaur Area Of Alberta

EDMONTON.—Establishment of a provincial park in the area of dinosaurs, beds and badlands southeast of Drumheller has been recommended to the Alberta Government.

Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of economic affairs, said the report of C. M. Sternberg, former federal paleontologist, who investigated the matter, also recommends establishment of a museum at Drumheller to display the area's natural history.

May Meet Deadline

VANCOUVER.—British Columbia lumbermen are well on their way to meeting the deadline on their 1952 United Kingdom lumber order. Welcome aid from the weather, which permitted the Forest Service to lift the ban on the all-important Vancouver forest district, will enable them to cut and ship the 45,000,000 to 75,000,000 feet not moved because of the woodworker's strike.
